COSH QUESTIONS?

Statewide CPAN Communication Strategy

The work of CPAN is building teams. Now that all hubs have their teams, the goal is to engage with the providers in your region. PCPS will call us when they get to know YOU and TRUST. This takes time and being consistent with messaging.

We strongly recommend that all CPAN hubs do the following. Certainly doing more is great! We are learning from each other. As we get new strategies that show results, we will update this list.

No job is too small – meaning that ALL hands are on deck as we work to enroll and engage. Enlist the coordinators, psychiatrists, psychologists, therapists and referral team members in all of the below. It will take the village.

NO Cost Strategies:

1. Use your total PCP list- break that list down by provider
  - a. Send an individual FAX and EMAIL to each provider weekly
    - i. Pictures with a short bio about your CPAN team members
    - ii. A clinical “pearl” about a topic a PCP would be interested in
2. Up your game each time you call a PCP office if they have not enrolled.
  - a. If the first time you called you left a message, see if you can get an email
  - b. Ask to speak to the referral coordinator and get their direct email and number
  - c. Track what your last communication was and change your strategy each time until you get a positive result
3. Schedule zoom meetings for 15 minutes with practices during a time of their choice- usually a weekly or monthly staff meeting
4. If you have a waitlist for psychiatry at your HRI and receive referrals from PCPs, reach out to them to tell them about CPAN and TCHATT processes, as appropriate. I.e. (straightforward ADHD –CPAN; more complicated query wish for an “in person consultation” TCHATT)

CPAN

Child Psychiatry
Access Network

5. Review at your HRI current patients in clinics. For patients that are straightforward and stable, have the provider contact the PCP to discuss transition of care with CPAN support. Discuss how this will help open up the HRI clinic for more new referrals from that PCP.
6. Engage your local LMHAs- again this process can be mutually beneficial in helping more stable cases routed to PCP giving them room for
7. TCHAT absolutely should be a conduit to CPAN. Discuss that up front with families and work to include the PCP in the TCHAT processes.
8. Grand Rounds at your HRI for Pediatrics and Family Medicine
9. Develop regular meetings with Pediatrics and Family Medicine Residency Programs/Departments
  - a. See if those departments will allow for CPAN information to sit on their websites in somewhat plan view
10. Develop your own Facebook, twitter or other social media accounts
  - a. Remember at the COSH level we are only allowed Facebook and LinkedIn
  - b. Make sure to share with COSH so that the state Facebook and LinkedIn can share your team's information

COST Strategies:

1. Work with your internal marketing teams to develop more refined informatics to be sent out. As long as you use the state CPAN logo- certainly move forward
2. If your internal team has the ability to do marketing that could include other topics and will be able to PROVIDE food- join forces and make sure to get them to include CPAN information
3. Offer CMEs for talks for PCPs- we will hear from Sarah Martin, MD about how to join forces on a statewide CME process that may help lower costs and headache of developing CME. CME is not just for PCPS, but consider for psychologist, social workers, NP/PAs and possibly nursing.
  - a. Consider shorter talks- 30 minutes
  - b. Focus on ethics talks- more likely to get providers to sign up
4. In the work with residency teams, consider ways to help motivate residents to utilize CPAN. They can be our early adopters so to speak. Offer an educational tool/product for the first resident who calls 5 times (maybe a psychopharmacology book)
5. Driving to practices, as you are able to make the social and physical connection. As you are in office- zoom and/or call the providers for CPAN that day- walk a team through making that first call to get them familiar with the concept

COSH Strategies:

1. We are organizing the webpage- this obviously will take time
2. Considering a vendor for Podcasts
  - a. We need a stable “host” – might be a good strategy for this person to be a PCP not a mental health provider
  - b. Need regular schedule with content in bite sized amounts
3. Purchasing educational tools at bulk- will resupply and decide on new tools as we move through the products
4. What other COSH level activities would hubs like us to embark on?
